

Rife International

Client: General Services Administration (GSA)

End User: Civilian Board of Contract Appeals

Project: Office Renovations

Location: Washington, DC

Rife International provided space design and construction renovations services to convert two offices into four new offices within the Judges quarters of the Civilian Board of Contract Appeals. Rife managed the entire project life cycle from design through construction.

Additionally, Rife International managed the high level security coordination efforts on this project. Our efforts included coordinating specialized subcontractors' work, including demolition, Electrical and Mechanical work. Further we worked with the building owner to fully transition the completed project to our clients. We also provided solutions on making the space more energy efficient and sustainable.
